A NIGHT OF TERROR.

IT PROVED THE DOWNFALL OF NEGLY AND HIS PALS.

A Thrilling Incident of Life in the City of Pittsburgh Early in the Present Century, Related by a Woman—Presence of Mind Alone Saved Her.

The following incident, which, at the time, caused much talk, and is still told by the children of old settlers who heard it from their parents, has never, to my knowledge, appeared in print, and the only object in telling it now is that so many people are interested in anything of an historical nature pertaining to the days of our grandfathers.

My ancestors were among the first settlers of western Pennsylvania, my grandfather being one of the garrison of old Fort Pitt, dying there during the Revolutionary war. The incident referred to was told me by my mother, who was attending a school in Pittsburgh at the time, and my grandmother Calhoun, who was a resident of the city for many years and who died there in 1864 at the age of 89 years.

About the first of this century a man named Negley built a house five miles east of Pittsburgh on a road running east and west, midway between the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers. It was a tavern and farmhouse combined. Teamsters, drovers and travelers stopped on their way to and from the city to get a meal or stay overnight.

These wayside inns were numerous in early days, and are still found in many parts of the country. They are generally pleasant places to stop at. After Negley had occupied his tavern a number of years the place was named Negleyville, afterward Rising Sun and later East Liberty.

Negley was as bloodthirsty a villain as could have been found on the frontier and had associated with him a number of men as bad as himself, who made his tavern their headquarters, and whose business was to rob and murder unfortunate travelers who might stop there. The undoing of these men was brought about in this way:

A poor woman with her two small children started out from some point east of Liberty to walk to Pittsburgh. In the evening she reached Negley's tavern, and as her children were too tired to go farther she put up for the night. Soon after entering the house she began to feel uneasy, as there was something mysterious about the actions of the inmates. Before she retired to rest a traveler rode up and dismounted, and after seeing his horse cared for entered the house. He seemed to be a drover returning from the city after disposing of some cattle.

Concealing her alarm, she followed the landlady, a coarse, brawny woman, to a room up stairs, whose door was without fastenings and which contained only a bed and stool. Retiring with her children, she was unable to sleep. An hour or so later she heard the traveler being escorted to an adjoining room and heard him complain that his door could not be secured, and the landlady assured him that he was as safe as he would be in his own house, an assertion the traveler evidently believed, as his heavy breathing soon told that he was asleep.

Near midnight the woman, who was still awake, heard stealthy steps pass her door and several persons enter the adjoining room. In a few minutes there was a heavy blow, followed by a low cry and then a short struggle. A little after the murderers came into her room, but seeing that she seemed to be asleep left her, and she heard them carry the dead man through the hall and down stairs.

In the morning they were very polite, inquiring how she rested, etc., stating that the drover had got up early and gone on.

After breakfast she and the children started for the city, but were soon met by a man coming from there, who stopped her, inquiring who she was and where she was going, where she had staid the night before, etc. Believing him to be one of the band, she answered truthfully, but told him that the people at the tavern were very nice people and had treated her very well. He passed on, but she met another coming from the city who made the same inquiries, and still another; but she told the same story, and they, believing that she knew nothing, let her go.

On her arrival at Pittsburgh she informed the authorities and the place was broken up, but whether any of them were brought to justice I am unable to say.—Sarah P. Farmer in Pittsburgh Dispatch.

A Brave Woman.

Mrs. Lizzie Goodman lately walked 400 miles, from Memphis to St. Louis, carrying in her arms her crippled 6-year-old son. Her husband had died in poverty, and her grandaunt, a farmer living near St. Louis, offered to give her and the child a home. The soles were worn off her shoes long before she reached the end of her journey, but the farmers all along the road were kind to her, giving her food and a night's lodging whenever she asked for it. In St. Louis some compassionate women supplied her with shoes, and she set out courageously to walk the few remaining miles to her uncle's home in Baden.—Boston Woman's Journal.

Not to Be Seen.

"I wouldn't be seen smoking a cigarette!" exclaimed the princess earnestly. Accordingly she summoned her good fairy and bade that fairy make her a match and render her invisible.—Detroit Journal.

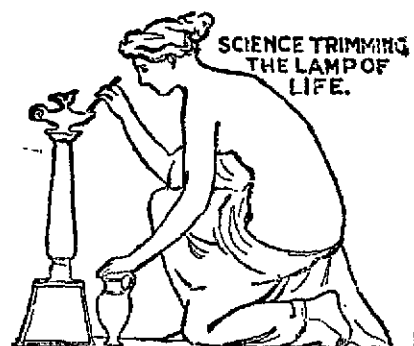

In France it is a punishable offense for any one to give infants under one year any form of solid food unless such be ordered by written prescription signed by a legally qualified medical man.

Fifty years ago Austria had seven cities with more than 20,000 inhabitants. Today there are 22.

The Trans-Mississippi and International Congress is composed of delegates from every State and Territory West of the Mississippi river. The idea of this exposition originated in that Congress at its session at Omaha in 1895, and the project has become a National enterprise and the National Commission has been organized and is in active service, there being one commissioner for each of the several departments of the Government. Most of the Trans-Mississippi States are well along in the way of gathering exhibits from their respective States and many of them have made liberal appropriations, while others are preparing exhibits through private enterprise.

Vice-President H. B. Maxson of Reno, has made arrangements whereby he can get Nevada exhibits, shipped from any point in the State along the line of the C. P. R. to Omaha and return, and he requests all persons who wish the interests of the State advertised, to co-operate with the Exposition County Commissioner of his county, whose name is shown above, and prepare some product of his county and send it to the nearest point on the C. P. R. from which place it will be sent to Omaha and exhibited, and returned to the same point at the close of the exposition, free of expense to the exhibitor. Full information should accompany everything sent for exhibition. Before sending anything to the line of the railroad a full description should be given the Exposition Commissioner of the county, who in turn will notify the Vice-President, who will notify him what action to take, otherwise there might be many duplications. Apply to your County Representative for further information, and don't let this opportunity of advertising the resources of Nevada be lost.

THE STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE

The State Central Committee of the Silver party is called to meet in this city at noon to-day. The purposes for which the meeting is called are:

First.—Fixing the time and place at which the State Convention shall be held.

Second.—Apportioning delegates to said convention among the several counties of the State.

Third.—Fixing the day on which primaries for the election of delegates to the State Convention shall be held, and the test for voters at said election.

These are the principal objects for which the meeting is to be held, though the call says "such other business as may be presented shall be considered."

The appointment of delegates will doubtless be based upon the vote cast for Bryan and Sewall electors, or upon the vote for Representatives of Congress in 1896. The electors received an average of 7,760 votes each, and the Congressman received 6,529 votes. An apportionment of one delegate for every fifty votes cast for the electors would make a fair sized convention for Nevada, and every man who voted for W. J. Bryan for President should be invited to participate in the primaries for the election of delegates to that convention.

NEVADA WAR CLAIMS.

It appears that the appropriation bill to reimburse Nevada for money expended in organizing volunteers for the United States army thirty-odd years ago, and the money expended by the State in suppressing Indian uprisings subsequent to that time, did not pass Congress. The House of Representatives defeated the bill, notwithstanding the efforts of Congressman Newlands to get it through that body. This deprives Nevada for the time at least of her just dues and the most economical management of affairs will be necessary to keep the State on a cash basis. The borrowing power of the State under the Constitution is practically exhausted and the expenses of the State Government henceforth must be met by taxation. Had the State received what Congressional Committees have repeatedly reported it is justly entitled to from the United States taxation could be reduced materially for many years to come.

Some day a Congress not controlled by Ozar-Rail, and disposed to deal fairly with Nevada, will pass those war claims and the State will get its just dues.

CONDENSED WAR NOTES.

The Madrid Official Gazette published a royal decree yesterday temporarily suspending throughout the Spanish peninsula the rights of individuals as guaranteed by the constitution.

The publication of the decree is generally accepted as proof that Spain is now ready to sue for peace, and that negotiations to that end are already in progress. There is reason to believe that negotiations will be carried on through France. Senzate is quoted as saying that "Spain wants peace, but it must be an honorable peace."

The army is anxious to resist to the last, but the Government cannot consent to such a useless sacrifice. Had Spain her fleet the situation would be very different.

President McKinley yesterday, in speaking of the fall of Santiago, said: "I now hope for early peace."

Yesterday morning the British schooner E. R. Fickerson was brought to Key West as a prize.

The War Department has posted a message from Siboney in relation to the fever situation, which says:

"Only twenty-three new cases of yellow fever and three deaths in the past twenty-four hours. Type of disease mild. The camp site will be moved whenever practicable. Every precaution taken to prevent the spread of the disease."

The Harvard, having on board 1,000 Spanish prisoners arrived at Portsmouth yesterday morning. An investigation showed that more than half the prisoners on the Harvard were ill.

General Miles cable: "The Commission on the behalf of the United States was appointed, consisting of Generals Wheeler, Lawton and Lieutenant Miles, with Spanish commission to arrange details of capitulation."

The Commission held a meeting until a late hour, and met again yesterday morning. It is supposed terms will be settled immediately.

The Gazette thinks Ex-Lieutenant Governor Pougade will be appointed Major of the Nevada Battalion. May be so.

WATTLER BULLETIN

(Copyright, 1898, by W. F. Foster.)

St. Joseph, Mo., July 16.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from July 18th to 22nd.

The next disturbance will reach the Pacific coast about July 23d, cross the West of Rockies country by close of July 24th, great central valleys 25th to 27th, Eastern States the 28th.

Warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about 23d, great central valleys the 25th, Eastern States the 27th.

Cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about 28th, great central valleys the 28, Eastern States 30th.

Temperature of the week ending 8 A. M. August 1st will average above in the Northern, below in the Southern, and about normal in the Pacific coast States.

About July 17th or 18th the great high temperature wave will have crossed the continent and a decidedly cool wave will have taken its place. But another warm wave, of less force, will cross the continent through the Northern States from 24th to 25th.

Up to July 9th my temperature forecasts for July proved good with indications that they would continue so.

Criticizes Governor Hund's Appointments.

Editor Duigan of the Woodland Mail is roasting the Governor of California for the latter's military appointments. This is what he has to say of District Attorney Barnes of San Francisco, whom the Governor appointed Captain of the Petaluma company:

"W. S. Barnes, who was appointed Captain of the Petaluma company, weighs over 300 pounds; he was rejected by the examining physicians and pronounced excessively corpulent; he does not know the first rudiments of military tactics, never having had any experience whatever. He can hardly walk around, let alone follow his men on a double-quick march. He is the laughing stock of the rawest recruits for the ridiculous commands he gives. When his company was mustered in he attempted to give an order, but made a mistake and finally said to his Second Lieutenant, 'Take them up the line.'"
